Plan Now for 2008 Conferences

— by Denise Ellison, WA State Transit Ins. Pool, TCAA President

We've made it through the Holiday Season of 2007-2008 and, hopefully, everyone is sticking to those New Year's Resolutions. This is the time of year where you really want to exercise but the gym parking lot is so full, you have to park a half mile away and WALK! Anyway, the next item is to plan 2008 (yes, vacations, but let's be smart and plan the vacation around some education!).

The National Association of Insurance Women (NAIW) is set for their 67th Convention June 4-8 in Scottsdale, AZ. The business meeting and education is geared to Agents, Business Owners, Adjusters, and Vendors.

NASP, the National Association of Subrogation Professionals has two educational conferences this year! The first is March 27-28, 2008, at The Mirage, Las Vegas, NV for the 3rd Annual Subro Litigation Skills Conference. This conference is designed to provide training and education to enhance litigation skills of attorneys, in-house counsel, and insurance professionals involved in the litigation process. The second is the annual conference that I've attended the last two years, offering a huge amount of classes over a three-day period. It happens to be in Florida in November 2008; and, in the business meetings they always have two key-note speakers who speak on pertinent, and motivating topics.
